Review of three business segments:

- Construction, Mining & Utility Equipment: Sales decreased, due to the appreciation of the yen from the corresponding period a year ago, although the decrease in sales volume was absorbed by improved selling prices. Segment profit decreased, mainly due to the appreciation of the yen, although the decreased in sales volume and increased costs were partially absorbed by improved selling prices.
- Retail Finance: Sales remained about flat from the corresponding period a year ago, due to the appreciation of the yen despite an increase in interest income. Segment profit increased from the corresponding period a year ago, mainly due to lower funding costs.
- Industrial Machinery & Others: Sales decreased, mainly due to decreased sales of large press machines. Segment profit increased due to increased sales of excimer laser maintenance, which has a high profit margin.

Construction, Mining & Utility Equipment: Sales by Region (To Outside Customers) for the First 3-Month Period (Apr. - Jun., 2025) of FY2025

- Sales to outside customers decreased by 5.5% from the corresponding period a year ago, to JPY842.3 billion.
- In real terms excluding the effects of foreign exchange rates, sales decreased in North America mainly due to a decrease in sales of Mining equipment but an increase in other regions except Japan and China.

Construction, Mining & Utility Equipment: Causes of Difference in Sales and Segment Profit for the First 3-Month Period (Apr. - Jun., 2025) of FY2025

- Sales decreased by JPY49.4 billion from the corresponding period a year ago, due to the appreciation of the yen from the corresponding period a year ago, although the decrease in sales volume was absorbed by improved selling prices.
- Segment profit decreased by JPY20.0 billion from the corresponding period a year ago, mainly due to the appreciation of the yen from the corresponding period a year ago, although the decrease in sales volume and increased costs were partially absorbed by improved selling prices.
- Segment profit ratio was 14.5%, down 1.4 points from the corresponding period a year ago.

Retail Finance: Assets, New Contracts and Revenues for the First 3-Month Period (Apr. - Jun., 2025) of FY2025

- Assets decreased by JPY11.5 billion from the previous fiscal year-end, mainly due to the impact of the Japanese yen's appreciation against the US dollar.
- New contracts decreased by JPY46.3 billion from the corresponding period a year ago, due to Japanese yen's appreciation from the corresponding period a year ago and a decrease in new contracts in North America.
- Sales remained about flat from the corresponding period a year ago, due to the appreciation of the yen despite an increase in interest income. Segment profit increased by JPY 1.7 billion from the corresponding period a year ago, mainly due to lower funding costs.

Ⅱ . Projection for FY2025 Business Results

Latest Estimate of the Impact of Additional U.S. Tariffs

- Based on the tariff policy announced by the US government as of July 24, latest estimate of tariff costs is as follows:
- Although we have not revised our outlook for demand, sales, and profits affected by tariff policy, we estimate that tariff costs will be reduced by 30 billion yen on a payment basis and the impact on profits and losses will be reduced by 3.5 billion yen compared to the forecast in April.

Latest Estimate of the Impact of Additional U.S. Tariffs

- Based on the tariff policy announced by the US government as of July 24, the tax rates by major country are as follows:
- Regarding tax rates by country, for products other than steel and aluminum, in many cases they will be lower than the forecast in April due to negotiations between the US and each country, but for steel and aluminum, the global tax rate was set at 50% in June, and so in many cases they will be higher than the forecast in April.

Construction, Mining & Utility Equipment: Price Trends and Projection for Major Minerals

- As for thermal coal, low-grade coal is on a downward trend due to increased domestic coal supply in China, while high-grade coal is expected to remain stable.
- Metallurgical coal and iron ore are on a downward trend due to reduced demand in China, and although demand is expected in other regions, future fluctuations are expected to be large.
- Copper prices have recently been fluctuating widely due to the impact of U.S. tariff, but in the long term they are expected to remain at high levels.

Construction, Mining & Utility Equipment: Actual and Projected Demand for Mining Equipment

- In 1Q FY2025, global demand for mining equipment decreased by 3% from the corresponding period a year ago.
- In FY2025, full-year demand will decrease by between 0% and 5% from FY2024. Coal prices have fallen recently in Indonesia, so we will be closely monitoring future demand trends.
